

Architectural Guidelines

Prior to making improvements, homeowner (hereinafter referred to as Applicant) shall submit detailed plans and specifications set forth on the most recently adopted form established by the Architectural Review Board (ARB). The ARB shall evaluate each application for its total effect upon the Applicant's parcel and overall property. The ARB reserves the right of exclusive power and discretion to approve or disapprove improvements to protect the aesthetics of the community. The ARB will provide a reason for applications that are not approved.

After reviewing the application when deemed complete (that is, a signed application form, survey with drawn to scale project including dimensions, contractor info, and any further items required for review), the ARB has thirty (30) days in which to approve or disapprove the application. Applicant will receive written notification of the ARB's decision. The ARB's failure to act within this specified period shall not constitute approval whereupon the work may begin.

If any improvement is completed prior to submission and is denied, the Owner will have 30 days from date of written notification to correct the issue at homeowner's expense.

No improvement/change on a property shall impede drainage flow. It is the responsibility of the owner/contractor to ensure positive drainage is maintained on their property and neighboring lots.

Any approval of the submitted plans shall not be construed to supersede, waive, void or amend any requirements of any applicable governmental zoning or building law, regulation or ordinance, all of which must be complied with by Owner at Owner's sole cost and expense.
